Jesus began to teach the _____ and qualities that must be present in the lives of those who follow Him as Lord and Savior.

Jesus didn't want anyone to know their travel route because He _____ to have a few private moments away from the crowds so that He could teach and instruct His disciples in privacy.

All that believers do should be _____ by the truth of Jesus Christ crucified and resurrected for the sake of sinners.

Jesus was _____ and given willingly by God the Father and He goes willingly to the cross as God the Son.

Jesus was delivered over by God for _____. The follower of Jesus must be motivated and moved by Jesus - His honor and His prestige - and not our own as we follow _____ example to us.

Jesus is teaching that the true follower of Christ will not think of themselves to be better than another believer and will not consider their _____ more significant than another believer's. Instead, they will welcome and gladly serve in the lowly and unnoticed task for the sake of their brother or sister in Christ.

There is to be _____ among those who proclaim the same gospel message.

Application (Take Home Truths)

Like the disciples, we too can be absorbed in the wonderful teachings of Jesus Christ's work to deliver and save us in one moment and then in the very next moment, full of pride, arrogance, seeking our own way and preferences, and excluding other believers of Christ.

Jesus is talking about an attitude and a disposition of the heart. Do you have the mind of Christ? Are you following the example of Christ - who made Himself nothing - taking the form of a servant? Are you willing to lay down your preferences for the sake of the gospel?

Jesus says the follower of Christ seeks not his/her own good but rather the good of others and lays aside their own comfort, honor, prestige and recognition in order to serve others in the gospel.

This is the work and gift of the gospel for those who believe.

*Please help keep us updated - requests will remain on the list for 4 weeks.

If you desire longer, or to have them placed in a different section,

Please call the church office to let us know.

The example of our Lord Jesus Christ is set before us. We must resemble him in his life, if we would have the benefit of his death. Notice the two natures of Christ; his Divine nature, and human nature. Who being in the form of God, partaking the Divine nature, as the eternal and only-begotten Son of God, Joh 1:1, had not thought it a robbery to be equal with God, and to receive Divine worship from men. His human nature; herein he became like us in all things except sin. Thus low, of his own will, he stooped from the glory he had with the Father before the world was. Christ's two states, of humiliation and exaltation, are noticed. Christ not only took upon him the likeness and fashion, or form of a man, but of one in a low state; not appearing in splendour. His whole life was a life of poverty and suffering. But the lowest step was his dying the death of the cross, the death of a malefactor and a slave; exposed to public hatred and scorn.
