A Study through the Gospel of Mark
“The Fault In Our Hearts”
Mark 10:35-52

March 21, 2021

In our text, we are going to look at two examples: One where the focus is wrongly placed on _____ and one where the focus is rightly placed on _____.

After Jesus’s proclamation of his own suffering and death, James and John come to him with a _____ of their own.

James and John come to Jesus not with Jesus’s words on their mind, but rather, they are focused on _____.

This passage is a reminder to us that we never outgrow the _____.

_____ and _____ are the way of Christ and they should be the way of His followers as well.

Bartimaeus would not be silenced by the crowd because he was _____ for Jesus to do that which only He could do.

Bartimaeus _____ Jesus was who He claimed to be.

Bartimaeus was aware of the _____ of his own heart.

Every _____ follower of Christ must realize that your dependence rest squarely on Christ.

Jesus will _____ hear the sincere call of those who cry out and communicate their need for Him.

Bartimaeus places himself under the submission and Lordship of Jesus, which is the proper and only response for any true _____ of Christ.

Application (Take Home Truths)

The good news of the gospel is that while sin has indeed made us all blind beggars, Jesus hears the call and cry of those who turn to Him in faith and repentance.

The call to be a follower of Jesus is the call to trust and understand your own need and how that need has been met fully in Christ. Then, in that same grace, commit your life to Him and follow Him. Ask yourself: What do your requests of Jesus look like? Do they look more like James and John or Bartimaeus?

“Faith that does not lead to discipleship is not saving faith”
